Rock Group Hits Snag at Fordyce

By GINGER SHIRAS
Of the Gazette Staff

FORDYCE — The multimillion-dollar, summer-long international tour by the world's most famous rock group, the Rolling Stones, hit a small snag in this small South Arkansas town Saturday when guitarist Keith Richard was charged with reckless driving and possession of a concealed knife.

He was released on $152.50 bond on the two misdemeanor charges. A companion was charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Richard, who, along with the group's flamboyant stage performer Mick Jagger, writes and sings the group's songs, was making a leisurely driving tour of Arkansas en route from a Friday concert at Memphis to a Sunday concert at Dallas.

The group's lawyer, Bill Carter of Little Rock, said Richard and the Stones' newest member, guitarist Ron Wood, and two companions were traveling along U.S. 97, stopped at a Fordyce police station and were
